Synopsis

The ultimate intimacy: If orgasm is the little death, is masturbation the little suicide? The title means "the little death," a euphemism for orgasm, but the women who exuberantly masturbate for Toronto photographer Will Santillo in this book are as lively a bunch as you'll ever meet. Santillo conceived the project eight years ago to include a thorough cross section of women: young to old, slim to thick, perfect beauties to those not considered beautiful until seen through his lens. The one constant would be that each would decide and direct how she masturbated to climax while he captured the moment. From previous projects with amateur subjects Santillo had come to believe that masturbation is a far more personal act than most sex play because it is conducted almost exclusively in private. He set out to reveal the diversity and creativity with which women approach selfstimulation, and to portray the beauty of ordinary women in the throes of orgasm -- a beauty far richer than the male oriented depictions seen in pornography. Santillo says he seeks to uncover the hidden face of his subjects, and indeed, it's the faces that best show the intensity of response in these artfully explicit photos. Dian Hanson interviewed 37 of the women, and their candid insights on overcoming inhibition, giving in to exhibitionism, and achieving orgasm in front of a stranger with a camera provide a framework for the lush, sepia-toned photos. For all who are curious about just what the woman next door or one's own wife gets up to in her private moments, La petite Mort is a breath of life.

Book Information

Hardcover: 208 pages
Publisher: Taschen (June 11, 2011)
Language: English
ISBN-10: 3836524368
Product Dimensions: 8.3 x 1.2 x 11.7 inches
Shipping Weight: 2.8 pounds
Average Customer Review: 4.4 out of 5 stars See all reviews (7 customer reviews)
Best Sellers Rank: #1,240,541 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #351 in Books > Arts & Photography > Photography & Video > Nude Photography #2899 in Books > Arts & Photography > Photography & Video > Erotic Photography #2937 in Books > Arts & Photography > Photography & Video > Individual Photographers

Customer Reviews
The photography of Will Santillo and the interviews Dian Hanson conducted with 37 of the women photographed in this book make this ground breaking book an instant collectors’ item. Santillo not only goes where most first class photographers fear to tread, but in his decision to capture the peak of exhilaration of self gratification in women he has created some of the most sensitive and alluring photographs. The title LA PETITE MORT means “the little death,” a euphemism for orgasm, but ‘the women who exuberantly masturbate for Toronto photographer Will Santillo in this book are as lively a bunch as you’ll ever meet. Santillo conceived the project eight years ago to include a thorough cross section of women: young to old, slim to thick, perfect beauties to those not considered beautiful until seen through his lens. The one constant would be that each would decide and direct how she masturbated to climax while he captured the moment. From previous projects with amateur subjects Santillo had come to believe that masturbation is a far more personal act than most sex play because it is conducted almost exclusively in private. He set out to reveal the diversity and creativity with which women approach self-stimulation, and to portray the beauty of ordinary women in the throes of orgasm—a beauty far richer than the male oriented depictions seen in pornography. Santillo says he seeks to uncover the hidden face of his subjects, and indeed, it’s the faces that best show the intensity of response in these artfully explicit photos. ‘The moody photographs are sepia-toned, a factor which makes them less hard edged than the usual black and white format.

Download to continue reading...

Dmca